

UNIVERSITY JOB FOR ROOSEVELT.

Altogether Likely That University of Minnesota May Ask Him There

AFTER HIS HUNTING TRIP.

His Knowledge of the West and Progressive Ideas in Said Are Pointed Reasons For The Place Being Urged Upon Him.

SAINT PAUL, Minn., Dec. 13.—The probability that natural conditions will ultimately bring about the retirement of President Cyrus Northup of the University of Minnesota, who at the request of the regents has withdrawn his resignation, has stirred up a pronounced movement among educators of the State looking to a tender of the post to President Roosevelt upon his return from his recent hunting trip. The movement has not yet taken official form, but is expected to be in a fair way to work out in the form of a formal offer.

It is pointed out by the educators who favor the selection of President Roosevelt that the University of Minnesota would offer him the leadership in an institution with an enrollment of 4,000 students and possession of complete and modern equipment, and the opportunity of playing a leading part in the future development of the Northwest. In this section of the United States within 10 years, they say, will be a greater development than in any other, and President Roosevelt, by his knowledge of the West and sympathies with it, would be admirably fitted for the post.

The refusal of the regents to consider President Northup's resignation is understood to have been largely influenced by their inability to divide upon an available man at this time. The matter will be finally acted upon on December 29, and at that time it is understood, an arrangement will be made by which President Northup will continue for the time being as the head of the institution, thus affording the regents a longer period in which to prepare for the change to come and determine upon a new President.

YOUNG COUPLE'S HOME WEDDING.

Anderson-Rosenstock Nuptials Celebrated at Scottdale Last Evening

SCOTSDALE, Dec. 13.—A quiet home wedding united Florence Rosenstock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Rosenstock, of Louisa avenue, and William Shaffer Anderson, of Connellsville, at 6 o'clock last evening, the Rev. Edward C. Kunkle, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Scottsdale, being the officiating clergyman. The ring ceremony was used, and there were no attendants. The bride was attired in an imported gown of Princess lace over pearl crepe, and the house decorations were in pink and white. The only guests present were the immediate families of the two contracting parties, and after the marriage a wedding supper was served, following which the young couple left on an extended trip to the east, after which, upon their return, they will reside in Connellsville, where the groom is chief bookkeeper for the West Penn Electric Company. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob G. Anderson and until recently lived in Scottsdale, but now lives in Connellsville.

The bride is one of Scottsdale's most charming girls and has been for some time the bookkeeper for C. D. & P. Tel. Company. Her popularity was attested to a couple of years ago by her friends electing her in a voting contest conducted by a Pittsburgh newspaper, as one of the girls to take a trip to Europe as the guest of the paper. The many friends of the young couple, who are widely known, wish them much happiness.

Little Girl's Birthday.
About 25 little girls gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ashe on North Prosper street yesterday afternoon in honor of their daughter, Imogene's sixth birthday. Little Imogene proved to be a charming hostess. Games and music was the enjoyment of the afternoon, and at 4 o'clock a dainty luncheon was served.

Monthly W. C. T. U. Meeting.
Largely attended was the regular monthly meeting of the W. C. T. U. held yesterday afternoon in the Carnegie Free Library. Mrs. Mary E. Williams presided. Mrs. Frank Patterson was elected superintendent of the Temperance Light Movement, and an outline of work was planned regarding sending out dinner and clothing coal to the poor families on Christmas day. It is the intention of many W. C. T. U. workers to brighten the homes of many of the poor on Christmas day. Mrs. Elizabeth Lucas, a charter member of the Union is ill at her home on West Apple street. Mrs. Lucas is one of the faithful members and her absence at the meeting was generally regretted.

WANT SMALL UNITS.

Local Optimists Will Oppose Prohibition by Congress. Leaders of the Anti-Saloon League in this State say that they have not changed their attitude on the legislation for which they will fight at the coming session of the Legislature. They will favor making townships, boroughs and wards the units in voting on restricting license territory.

Before the bill is introduced, a conference will be held by the Rev. S. T. Nicholson, State Superintendent of the movement with members of the assembly in Harrisburg. The county option bill is favored very strongly in parts of the State, but it is the belief of Dr. Nicholson and the Rev. Dr. H. W. Tapp, superintendent in Philadelphia, that a smaller unit will be found to be much more successful in operation.

REAR ADMIRAL EMORY RETIRES.

Has Been in The Service For Forty-Two Years, Latter Two of Which He Has Been Rear Admiral.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 13.—Rear Admiral William Hensley Emory, who recently hailed down his flag at Hong Kong and resigned command of the second squadron of the Atlantic battleship fleet, closed his active career in the Navy today, having been transferred to the retired list by operation of law on account of age.

Rear Admiral Emory retired after 42 years' service in the Navy. He was appointed to the Naval Academy from the District of Columbia in 1862, and graduated in 1866. He was made an Ensign two years later and a master in 1869. In 1870 he was commissioned a Lieutenant. His commission as Rear Admiral came in 1909, and his last command, that of leading the second division of the Atlantic fleet, dated from January 31, 1907.

NEW VIRGINIAN ROAD.

Orders Placed for 1,500 Steel Cars for Hauling West Virginia Coal. The Virginia railroad, extending from Tidewater at Norfolk through Virginia to the heart of the coal fields in the southern part of West Virginia, is preparing for the coal trade that the road will enjoy when it is finally completed after the first of next year. Orders have been placed with a Pittsburgh company for the construction of 1,500 steel freight cars to be used in hauling the coal to Tidewater.

The cars will be ready for delivery soon after the first of the coming year.

TO SEE ROOSEVELT.

President-Elect Taft Will Have Conference With Him Today. WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 13.—(Special.)—President-Elect Taft will arrive here this afternoon for a conference with President Roosevelt on the first of next year. He will spend the next two months.

He will go direct to the White House and take luncheon with the President. Although it is not admitted that Taft was summoned by the President, it is understood the two will discuss a number of important subjects of deep interest to both.

KENTUCKY LYNCHING.

Elmer Hill Taken From Jail and Strung Up to Tree. MONTICELLO, Ky., Dec. 13.—(Special.)—Elmer Hill, charged with assaulting and murdering 13 year old Mamie Womack, near Russell Springs, was taken from the local jail last night by an armed mob and after confessing his crime was hanged to a tree about twenty miles away.

DIED.

William B. Getchell, veteran and chemist, of Connellsville, died yesterday afternoon at his home, 1114 Pittsburg street, after a lingering illness from kidney trouble. He had been in the past 15 months, three of which he was confined to his bed. The funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow at 2 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. Getchell, 1114 Pittsburg street. Interment in Hill Grove Cemetery.

Mr. Getchell was an elderly man and was born in Wells, Maine, but moved to Boston, where he learned the machine trade. He came to Connellsville and then to Pittsburgh in 1870, where he was employed in the shops of the American Locomotive Company. He later entered the employment of the Carnegie Steel Company and moved to the home in Connellsville, where he died. He was survived by his wife, Mrs. Getchell, and a daughter, Mrs. Getchell, who is in Connellsville at the time of his death. He was a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church and a devout Christian.

REIMBURSED FOR DAMAGE TO CHURCH.

Pastor of St. Joseph's Church at Evening Receiver $310.

TO MANAGE JOHNSON BREWERY

Scottdale Young Man, Elected to the Presidency of the Pennsylvania Club.
Burgess Ferguson is improving
Rapidly—Other News.

SCOTSDALE, Dec. 17.—Rev. Father Urzeczowski, pastor of St. Joseph's Polish Church of Everson, yesterday received a draft for $310 for the damage done to the church by fire on a recent Sunday morning, the insurance being carried by the Bryn Mawr Estate Company, and this amount covering the entire loss. That this loss was not much greater the congregation gratefully acknowledged being due to the vigorous action of the Scottsdale volunteer fire department which hurried to the church with their full equipment, and subdued the fire, which threatened to consume the large and valuable church building, but which the department's work confined to the basement, with the small damage noted.

Manager of Brewery.
George Pliska, for many years proprietor of the Everson House and lately in the real estate business, has been made general manager of the Johnson Brewing Company's plant at New Salem. He will make his headquarters there and will devote his entire time to the management of the affairs of the concern.

Attending the Institute.
Five members of the Everson Board of Education were at Uniontown on Wednesday attending the sessions of the Fayette County Teachers' Institute and were well pleased with the county's representation of teachers, in which Everson borough holds a high place. The members present were Con O'Brien, H. A. Davis, George Barmby, Robert Gove and M. E. Kline. Mr. J. Bryan was the only member who was unable to attend the institute.

Entertained for Sister.
Dr. and Milton A. Noon of Everson entertained in honor of the former's sister, Miss Goldie Noon, who is here from Baltimore, Md., spending the holidays on Wednesday evening. There were about 25 guests present and the delightful evening was spent in music and cards, and with a luncheon served at 10 o'clock.

Elected President.
John J. Kennedy, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Kennedy of Pittsburgh and Chestnut street, received quite a widely coveted honor this week in being elected to the Presidency of the Pennsylvania Club of the University of Notre Dame, Indiana. Mr. Kennedy will be graduated from that institution this year and any office in the club representing this State is a signal honor. The annual reception and dance of the club will be given in Pittsburgh on January 4th.

Won Several Prizes.
Samuel O. Stinner, the tobacconist, yesterday evening received word from the poultry show at Windsor that he had been awarded three firsts and two seconds on his Black Langshans in the comparison show. As he had but five entries it appears that he may have taken a prize for each bird on exhibition. Mr. Stinner will be an exhibitor at Greensburg next week.

Lockup Was Popular.
As Christmas comes, space and home is thought of more than usually probably, it was peculiar that last night there were more applications for a lodging for the night at the borough lockup than any other night this winter. Before 7 o'clock five men had applied for a place to rest on the hard board beds of the borough hotel.

Is Getting Better.
Word has been received from John P. Brennan, the coke operator, who has been at Hot Springs, Ark., for treatment for rheumatism for several days, that Mr. Brennan is getting better. Mrs. Brennan was going on this week, but received word that her husband was improving so rapidly that she might defer the trip for a few days.

Hayes Was Here.
James Hayes, a coke operator of Mutual, was in town a few hours on Wednesday attending to business matters. He was on his way home from a business trip through Missouri and, of course, says "You must show me, I'm from Missouri," with more truth than 9999 of the people who do use the expression.

Walter Fretts Recovering.
Walter Fretts, Mr. and Mrs. W. Dick Fretts, of near the White school house, who has been suffering for the last five weeks with a severe attack of pleurisy, followed by pneumonia, seems to be recovering nicely. He is now able to sit up in bed a little.

Burgess Ferguson Out.
Burgess William Ferguson was able to be down street and at his post in Owens & Ferguson's store yesterday for awhile. The Burgess but recently returned home from Mercy Hospital, Pittsburgh, where he underwent an operation, which came just in time to give him a chance for an early recovery.

Negro Disturbed People.
An unidentified negro, too much filled with Christmas or some other kind of cheer, was made the guest of the Borough last evening, the invitation being extended by Chief Frank McCadden. The son of Africa invaded the West Penn waiting rooms, where the combined heat of the place put him down and out. The Chief virtually had to lug the fellow to the lockup a short distance away.

Now With Furnace.
Clyde B. Newcome, for some years with the Scottdale Laundry & Machine Company's office force, has now gone with the Scottdale Furnace Company and will have charge of a desk in that new office building they are putting up. Miss Nettie Herbert, a graduate of the Peterson Business College, has joined the office force at the machine company in the capacity of stenographer and bookkeeper.

Got a Lot of Game.
There was a shoot up at John Bowser's at Wooddale on Wednesday, and Scottdale had a good representation of her gunsmen there. Joe Haffner, the old scout, was there, with his trusty gun, and won out several big pieces of beef, three fine turkeys and some miscellaneous plunder. He was the best winner there, and there are a lot of fellows who wish that they could discover some method of shutting him out of the shooting, for they all claim that he is too expert for them. Harry White also made a good account for himself in capturing prizes.

Children Who Are Sickly.
Mothers who value their own comfort and the welfare of their children, should never be without a box of Scott's Emulsion for Children, for use throughout the season. They break up Colds, Cure Feverishness, Constipation, Diarrhea, Headache, Stomach Troubles, THINNESS, POWDERS NEVER FAIL. Sold by all Drug Stores, 25c. Don't accept any substitute. A trial package will be sent FREE to any mother who will address Allen S. Olmstead, Le Roy, N. Y.

DUNBAR.

DUNBAR, Dec. 17.—The Episcopal Sunday school at the Furnace is making great preparations for their annual Christmas entertainment which will be held in the church on Christmas night. The church is being beautifully decorated with small colored electric lights and evergreens and when the church is lighted up on Christmas night it will present a most beautiful appearance. The decorations will remain in place until after the first Sunday in the new year. The young people of the church are now busily engaged in doing evergreens which will be used by the St. Peter's Episcopal Church of Uniontown for their Christmas decorations. About 300 feet will be prepared by the young people.

25% Reduction on Everything in this Big Store!

Here is the most important bit of news that the gift-buyers of Connelville and vicinity have ever read—an actual cut of 25 per cent. from the price of each and every article in this store—making it possible to effect wonderful savings and purchase twice as much as you had intended in the six days which remain before Christmas!

The great success of our Pre-Holiday Sale has prompted us to clear out everything by Christmas Eve. We would rather take very small profits and have unusually big sales than to take big profits and have the usual sales. So for these last days we have clipped 25c from every dollar price and the same proportion for other prices. This is a glorious opportunity for gift-seekers to effect unprecedented savings on their gift purchases!

Sensational Christmas Bargains in

Jewelry,
Leather Goods,
Women's Neckwear,
Coats, Suits and Furs,
Waists and Skirts,
Gloves and Hosiery,
Knit Underwear,
Umbrellas,
Christmas Novelties,
and a score of other things suitable for Xmas Gifts!

It is impossible to mention our entire stocks, and we would have to if we were to quote everything included in this remarkable underpricing event. Just come to the store and take your choice of anything and everything and pay 25 per cent. less than its regular price! Now you can get that gift you thought was too expensive!

The actress looked debonair, though the play had been pronounced a frost by the critics.
"It's got to succeed," she explained, "for that reason I'm not nervous. Last season I played seven new parts and I burned a lot of good coal for costumes. This season I am radiating perfection. My form is doubly proportioned. I took the Marmola prescription to get this sublime figure, and a woman's figure can't be nearer perfection than what Marmola has made of me. A doctor friend of mine gave me the prescription. He's a brick. It's so simple, just get at any drug store 1/2 ounce Marmola, 1/2 ounce Fluid Extract Cascara, Aromatic and 3/4 ounce Peppermint Water and take a teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime. Now I have the strength, enthusiasm and power of a dozen stars. I tell you I am going to be big. With this the leading lady bowed the reporter out, calling after him, "If you have any lady friends tell them about Marmola, but impress upon them that there are cheap substitutes on the market that do not do the work." ADVERTISING.
THE DAILY COURIER has double the circulation of any other daily newspaper in Fayette county or the Connelville circle and it is better distributed for the general advertiser. It is the only paper that presents each week a complete statement of circulation. THE WEEKLY COURIER is the recognized organ of the Connelville coke trade. It has especial value as an industrial journal and an advertising medium for such interests.

THURSDAY EVENING, DEC. 17, 1936.

THE CONSOLIDATION MOVEMENT.

The Consolidation Committee of the Connelville Council has been deliberating, but it has at no time indicated a purpose to deny the people their right to pass upon the proposed consolidation of Connelville and New Haven. Its members have held to the view that the matter could not be gotten ready for action before the February election and that there was plenty of time for them to give the matter thoughtful consideration and thorough investigation.

There seems to be no objection to the general tenor of the proposed agreement, namely to the manner in which it arrives Connelville into wards. The plan of ward division submitted last night met with general approval and will probably be adopted, and with this change the agreement will no doubt receive the unanimous and cordial approval of the Town Council and the Burgesses.

The Consolidation Committee has been unfairly criticized, and this has perhaps served to confirm its members in their determination to make haste slowly. That they want to be fair and right is evidenced by their announcement that another open meeting will be held this evening to enable the business men who complained that they were not able to attend last night an opportunity to be present with any suggestions they may have to make.

The Courier has heretofore expressed its confidence in the integrity and the public spirit of the committee, and it is confirmed in that belief. The committee has not been wilfully dilatory, but only carefully deliberate as befits a body charged with an important and far-reaching duty, and when they have done their duty conscientiously and fairly, they will be acquitted of criticism by the public judgment. If we were all careful as well as well-meaning the world would be more safely on its ungrounded axis.

After their prompt approval of the consolidation agreement it was perhaps natural that the New Haven Councilmen should get impatient over any delay by the Connelville Council, but there is no reason to doubt that the Connelville Council as well as the Connelville people are heartily in favor of consolidation, and that they have no objection to the agreement as drawn, save the arrangement of Connelville's five wards; and we feel sure that the New Haven people and their representatives will concede the right of the Connelville people and their representatives to apportion the Connelville wards as shall to them seem just and equitable.

We are engaged in a great work for the future building of the whole community. Let us, therefore, have patience with each other, consideration for each other, and confidence in each other.

The announcement that the West Penn will duplicate its Connelville power station is a striking illustration of the growth of the town and its business. The Connelville station is said to be one of the largest and finest in the country.

Tonsiline Cures Sore Throat

The throat is one of the most delicate parts of the body. It is also one of the most important, and should be given the best possible care. The throat is the gateway to the body. The air we breathe, the food we eat, the liquids we drink, all pass through it. It is very easily affected by cold, strain, exposure, etc., and Sore Throat is therefore one of our most common ailments. Strangely enough, it is also one of the most neglected.

Sore Throat is a very serious matter, for the whole system is in danger in consequence of it.

Every Sore Throat patient is a candidate for Tonsiline. Quinsy, Diptheria and other serious or fatal diseases, all of which can be prevented by the timely use of the Sore Throat by the use of TONSILINE.

If taken in time a dose or two will do it. TONSILINE is made to cure throat diseases and nothing else. It is the one remedy for this purpose sold largely in the United States. Every user endorses it; every physician, knowing its virtues, commends it.

The one most important thing to remember about TONSILINE is the fact that it really does cure Sore Throat.

All druggists, 25c and 50c bottles. The Tonsiline Co., Canton, Ohio.

TAFT REPEATS TARIFF VIEWS.

Makes Earnest Statement at the Ohio Society
Banquet.

RECALLS PLATFORM PLEDGE.

Asserts That It Would Be Better to Have No Revision at All Rather Than One Not in Accordance With Party's Promise Prior to Election.

New York, Dec. 17.—Bringing his stay in New York to a close, President-elect Taft was the guest of honor at one of the most notable banquets ever held in this city. It was the twenty-third annual dinner of the Ohio society in New York, but around the 100 tables placed in the grand ball room in Astor hotel were men gathered from every section of the country and leaders in many walks of life.

Mr. Taft took advantage of the occasion in a speech filled with more earnestness than any he has delivered since his election to pledge his administration to his party, so far as he can control it, to a loyal adherence to the Chicago platform. He dwelt almost wholly upon the revision of the tariff, which he singled out as the most important declaration made, at the last national convention, and after having previously referred to the veto power of the chief executive said with all the emphasis of which he was capable:

"Better no revision at all, better that the new bill should fail, unless we have an honest and thorough revision on the basis laid down and the principles outlined in the party platform."

Mr. Taft also referred again to the Sherman anti-trust law and declared for its enforcement as one of the Roosevelt policies that the party had pledged itself to carry forward.

At the President's Table.

Seated at the "President's table" with Mr. Taft were the vice president-elect, Mr. Sherman, Governor Hughes of New York, Henry W. Taft, president of the society; Horace D. Taft of Watertown, Conn.; Dr. Arthur T. Hadley, president of Yale university; former Senator John C. Spooner, one of those who responded to the toast; J. Pierpont Morgan, Paul Morton, Governor Franklin Fort of New Jersey, Secretary Straus, Frank H. Hitchcock, Bishop Leonard of Ohio, General H. C. Corbin, Admiral Casper Goodrich and others.

At one of the tables near that of the guest of honor was perhaps the most notable group of financiers ever gathered together at a dinner in this country. All the diversified interests and so-called Wall street "crowds" were represented. There were E. H. Harriman, James J. Hill, George F. Baker, president of the First National bank; George W. Perkins of J. P. Morgan & Co., E. H. Gary of the Steel corporation, John G. Alden, Frank A. Vanderlip, vice president of the New York Life insurance company; J. P. Morgan, Jr., E. T. Stotesbury of Drexel, Morgan & Co. of Philadelphia and Charles Steele of J. P. Morgan & Co.

At another table and rivaling in the attention of the diners the "four Tafts" at the President's table were four Rockefeller's—John D., John D., Jr., William Rockefeller and P. A. Rockefeller. With them sat John D. Archbold, the active head of the Standard Oil company, and John G. Milburn, the special counsel of the company.

Frank B. Kellogg, who has been prosecuting the Standard Oil company, and William Nelson Cromwell, so prominently brought to the front in the recent Panama canal discussion, were near neighbors to the Rockefellers.

Thomas F. Ryan sat at a table with B. F. Yankum, James Speyer, Lord Revelstoke and others. Paul P. Gray, Arthur E. Ingalls, Wade H. Ellis, Leslie M. Shaw, Myron T. Hercock, Justice William A. Day, Robert C. Clowry, Charles H. Treat and Delavan Smith were others among the more than 900 diners. The galleries of the grand ball room, where the speeches were made were filled with an assemblage of splendidly gowned women, who joined with the men below in the enthusiastic tributes of cheers and applause paid to Mr. Taft and in but slightly lesser degree to Governor Hughes.

Mining Engineer Killed in Quarrel at Matewan, W. Va.

Matewan, W. Va., Dec. 17.—H. O. Smith, general superintendent of the Freeborn Coal and Coke company, was shot and killed during a quarrel at Matewan by H. A. Conners, station agent for the Norfolk and Western railroad at that point. The men quarreled over the telephone regarding the handling of certain cars of freight and an hour later when they met in the freight station the quarrel was renewed.

Smith struck Conners a stunning blow, which felled him to the floor. Before rising Conners drew a pistol and fired a bullet through Smith's heart. Conners, fearing violence at the hands of miners who began flocking to the scene, escaped across Tug river and is still hiding. Smith formerly lived at Allegheny, Pa., but for two years has been a civil and mining engineer in Southern West Virginia.

WAGES $25 A MONTH

But Pullman Porters Don't Need Tips,
Declares Official.

Chicago, Dec. 17.—The tipping system as it obtains in America and particularly as it applies to the Pullman company underwent a hearing inquiry before Interstate Commerce Commission Lane and its existence, ascribed to selfishness. This statement was made by Richmond Dean, general manager of the Pullman company, into whose rates Mr. Lane is inquiring. The witness denied that the public tips the porter because he is underpaid, and observed:

"The tipping system is a result of the selfishness of persons who desire better service than their fellows and are willing to pay for it."

"What is the salary of a Pullman porter, Mr. Dean?" inquired Attorney Mahan, representing the complainant.

"They are paid $25 a month," answered the witness.

"Does the company furnish them their meals?"

"The company does not."

"I think it takes much to buy their meals," said the lawyer.

DEMAND OF UNION SHUTS GLASS PLANTS.

Owners Say They Cannot Pay Wages
Demanded—Fayette County Affected By Shut Down.

Morgantown, W. Va., Dec. 17.—At a meeting held here last night the independent window glass operators of West Virginia and Southwestern Pennsylvania adopted a resolution providing for the shutting down of all window glass plants until the National Association of Window Glassworkers either withdraws its new flat scale, which has just been announced, or agrees to a scale equal to the sliding scale, which has been in operation since last December. At the meeting were represented factories located in Morgantown, Fairmont, Weston, Clarkburg and Charleston, W. Va.; Uniontown, Point Marion and other Pennsylvania cities. All other independents in this section have signified by wire their approval of the action.

The resolution denounced as unfair and illegal the action of the glassworkers' organization in terminating the wage contract and stated the determination of the independents to keep their plants closed until such time as "we are permitted to operate on the present sliding scale or its equivalent."

The Mystery of The Yellow Room

By GASTON LEROUX

Copyright, 1908, by Brentano's

The omelet ready, we sat down at table and were about to eat when the door was pushed open and an old woman, dressed in rags, leaning on a stick, her head drooping, her white hair hanging loosely over her wrinkled forehead, appeared on the threshold.

"Ah, there you are, Mother Angenoux! It's long since we saw you here," said our host.

"I have been very ill, very nearly dead," said the old woman. "If ever you should have any scraps for the Bete du Bon Dieu?"

And she entered, followed by a cat larger than any I had before seen. She took a seat on the sofa, and looked at us with a gaze so hopeless a minute that I shuddered. I had never heard so lugubrious a cry.

As if drawn by the cat's cry a man followed the old woman in. It was the Green Man. He sat down by the old woman, and he and she looked at each other with a gaze so full of meaning that I shuddered.

"A glass of cider, Daddy Mathieu," he said.

As the Green Man entered Daddy Mathieu had started violently, but quickly mastering himself he said:

"I've not more cider. I served the last bottles to these gentlemen."

"Then give me a glass of white wine," said the Green Man without showing the least surprise.

"I've no more white wine—no more anything," said Daddy Mathieu surlily.

"How is Mame Mathieu?"

"Quite well, thank you."

So the young woman with the large, tender eyes whom we had just seen was the wife of this repugnant and brutal man, whose jealousy seemed to emphasize his physical ugliness.

Blamming the door behind him, the innkeeper left the room. Mother Angenoux was still standing, leaning on her stick, the cat at her feet.

"You've been ill, Mother Angenoux? Is that why we have not seen you for the last week?" asked the Green Man.

"Yes, M. Keop. I have been able to get up but three times to go to pray to St. Genevieve, our good patroness, and the rest of the time I have been lying on my bed. There was no one to care for me but the Bete du Bon Dieu!"

"Did she not leave you?"

"Neither by day nor by night."

"Are you sure of that?"

"As I am of paradise."

"Then, how was it, Mame Angenoux, that all through the night of the murder nothing but the cry of the Bete du Bon Dieu was heard?"

Mother Angenoux planted herself in front of the forest keeper and struck the door with her stick.

"I don't know anything about it," she said. "But shall I tell you something? There are no two cats in the world that cry like that. Well, on the night of the murder I also heard the cry of the Bete du Bon Dieu outside, and yet she was on my knees and did not mew once, I swear. I crossed myself when I heard that, as if I had heard the devil."

I looked at the keeper when he put the last question, and I am much mistaken if I did not detect an evil smile on his lips. At that moment the noise of loud quarrelling reached us. We even thought we heard a dull sound of blows, as if some one was being beaten. The Green Man quickly rose and hurried to the door by the side of the fireplace, but it was opened by the landlady, who appeared and said to the keeper:

"Don't alarm yourself, monsieur. It is my wife. She has the toothache."

And he laughed. "Here, Mother Angenoux: here are some scraps for your cat."

He held out a packet to the old woman, who took it eagerly and went out of the door, closely followed by her cat.

"Then you won't serve me?" asked the Green Man.

Daddy Mathieu's face was placid and no longer retained its expression of hatred.

"I've nothing for you—nothing for you. Take yourself off."

The Green Man quietly refilled his pipe, lit it, bowed to us and went out. No sooner was he over the threshold than Daddy Mathieu, who had been waiting for him, and turning toward us, with eyes bloodshot and frothing at the mouth, he blazed to us, shaking his clenched fist at the door he had just shut on the man he evidently hated:

"I don't know who you are who tell us 'We shall have to eat red meat now,' but if it will interest you to know it—that man is the murderer!"

With which words Daddy Mathieu immediately left us. Routabille returned toward the fireplace and said:

"Now we'll grill our steak. How do you like the cider? It's a little tart, but I like it."

We saw no more of Daddy Mathieu that day, and absolute silence reigned in the inn when we left it after paying 5 francs on the table in payment for our feast.

Routabille at once set off on a three mile walk around Professor Stangeron's estate. He halted for some ten minutes at the corner of a narrow road black with soot near to some charcoal burners' huts in the forest of St. Genevieve, which touches on the road from Eploisy to Corbell, to tell me that the murderer had certainly passed that way before entering the grounds and concealing himself in the little clump of trees.

"You don't think, then, that the keeper knows anything of it?" I asked.

"We shall see that later," he replied.

"For the present I'm not interested in what the landlady said about the man."

The landlady knew him. I didn't take you to breakfast at the Donjon Inn for the sake of the Green Man."

Then Routabille, with great precaution, glided, followed by me, toward the little building which, standing near the park gate, served for the home of the concierges who had been arrested that morning. With the skill of an acrobat he got into the lodge by an upper window which had been left open and returned ten minutes later. He said only "Ah!" a word which in his mouth signified many things.

We were about to take the road leading to the chateau when a considerable stir at the park gate attracted our attention. A carriage had arrived, and some people had come from the chateau to meet it. Routabille pointed out to me a gentleman who descended from it.

"That's the chief of the Paris police," he said. "Now we shall see what Frederic Larsen has up his sleeve and whether he is so much cleverer than anybody else."

The carriage of the chief was followed by three other vehicles containing reporters, who were also desirous of entering the park. But two gendarmes stationed at the gate had evidently received orders to refuse admission to anybody. The chief of police calmed their impatience by undertaking to furnish to the press that evening all the information he could give that would not interfere with the judicial inquiry.

CHAPTER XI.

In Which Frederic Larsen Explains How the Murderer Was Able to Get Out of the Yellow Room.

AMONG the mass of papers, legal documents, memoranda and extracts from newspapers which I have collected relating to the mystery of the yellow room there is one very interesting piece. It is a detail of the famous examination which took place that afternoon in the laboratory of Professor Stangeron before the chief of police. This narrative is from the pen of M. Mathieu, the registrar, who, like the examining magistrate, had spent some of his leisure time in the pursuit of literature.

THE REGISTRAR'S NARRATIVE.

The examining magistrate and I, says M. Mathieu, found ourselves in the yellow room in the company of the builder who had constructed the pavilion after Professor Stangeron's designs. He had a workman with him, M. de Marquet had had the walls laid entirely bare—that is to say, he had had them stripped of the paper which had decorated them. Mame with a pick here and there indicated us the nonexistence of any part of opening. The door and the ceiling were thoroughly searched. We found nothing. There was nothing to be found. M. de Marquet appeared to be delighted and never ceased repeating:

"What a case! What a case! We shall never know, you'll see, how the murderer was able to get out of this room!"

Then suddenly, with a radiant face, he called to the officer in charge of the gendarmes.

"Go to the chateau," he said, "and request M. Stangeron and M. Robert Darzac to come to me in the laboratory, also Daddy Jacques, and let your men bring here the two concierges."

Five minutes later all were assembled in the laboratory. The chief of police, who had arrived at the chateau, joined us at that moment. I was seated at M. Stangeron's desk ready for work when M. de Marquet made us the following little speech, as original as it was unexpected:

"With your permission, gentlemen, as examinations lead to nothing, we will for once abandon the old system of interrogation. I will not have you brought before me one by one, but we will all remain here as we are—M. Stangeron, M. Robert Darzac, Daddy Jacques and the two concierges, the chief of police, the registrar and myself. We shall all be on the same footing. The concierges may for the moment forget that they have been arrested. We are going to confer together. We are on the spot where the crime was committed. We have nothing else to discuss but the crime. So let us discuss it freely, intelligently or, if you wish, so long as we speak just what is in our minds. There need be no formality or method, since this won't help us in any way."

Then, passing before me, he said in a low voice:

"What do you think of that, eh? What a scene! Could you have thought of that? I'll make a little place out of it for the vaudeville." And he rubbed his hands with glee.

I turned my eyes on M. Stangeron. The hope he had received from the doctor's latest reports, who had stated that Mlle. Stangeron might recover from her wounds, had not been able to efface from his noble features the marks of the great sorrow that was upon him. He had believed his daughter to be dead, and he was still broken by that belief. His clear, soft blue eyes expressed infinite sorrow.

"Now, M. Stangeron," said M. Mathieu, with somewhat of an important air, "place yourself exactly where you were when Mlle. Stangeron left you to go to her chamber."

A Golfer's Tools.

One of the most striking features of modern golf is the variety of clubs used to persuade the ball into the hole. As a matter of curiosity I kept count of the different putters used by my partners and opponents in the course of a fortnight's play. The total number of species observed is over twenty.

A Sale That Will Live Long in the Memory of the People of Dunbar and Vicinity.

The Entire $15,000 Stock of Dry Goods, Clothing, Furnishings, Shoes, Etc., of

The FAIR STORE

Dunbar, Opp., Dunbar House.

Now in the hands of THE EMPIRE SALVAGE CO., the world's greatest bargain givers. This elegant stock was secured by The Empire Salvage Co., from the receiver of the creditors which was sold, last Saturday ordered by the United States Court for almost nothing and it will be distributed among the homes of the people for about 33c on the $1.00. Just think of it, right in the heart of the season when you need all winter merchandise and also Christmas and Holiday Goods, you can secure them now at this bankrupt sale cheaper than you ever bought them in your life. Bear in mind this is no fake or humbug, no disappointments. People with money will purchase at least one year's supply. No goods sold to dealers or peddlers during these sales. They will have to wait until January 1, 1909, after the sale and we will sell the balance left over in a bulk. Again we say buy at this bankrupt sale and you will save many dollars to buy Christmas presents. This is a regular feast for the public. Your gain is the creditor's loss. You work for your hard earned dollars, now let your dollars work for you while this bankrupt sale is going on at the FAIR STORE, Opposite The Dunbar House.

LOST $3,000 ON FAKE BOUT

Chicago Man Claims to Have Been Duped by Fight Promoters.
Wilkesbarre, Pa., Dec. 16.—A man who claims he is H. A. Smith of Chicago appeared against three men before an audience here, charging conspiracy, saying he was lured here for the purpose of buying coal lands and pending negotiations was induced to put up $3,000 on a fake prize fight, losing his money.

The alleged conspirators were arrested, and it is believed they gave fictitious names at the hearing. J. A. Courtney of New York was the name given by one defendant and the name of a prominent citizen of Seattle, Wash., was given by another of the accused men. The third man is a resident of this city. All were held in jail for court. The police declare that they saved a man from Indiana from losing $10,000.

AT THE SOISSON.

Lyman Howe Tonight.
That the heights of instruction and entertainment to be attained in moving pictures are unlimited, is conclusively proven by Lyman H. Howe's new program to be seen at the Soisson Theatre tonight. It includes a ramble through picturesque Naples; a drive through Rome; an automobile trip through beautiful Savoy (France), a tour through India, —Bombay, Calcutta, Benares and Darjeeling, and an impressive military review in London. It depicts the dangers of Streptococcus in England, the weird effects of physical phenomena; the stirring sports of Australia; quiet episodes of animal and bird life; Sulphur mining in Sicily; a new drill by the Redham Orphanage, Niagara in winter, etc.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS.

Fritz Schoff is drawing big houses in "The Prima Donna." Victor Herbert's new opera at the Knickerbocker, New York.

William Gillette is just closing his eighth successful week in "Samson" and the demand for seats at the Criterion, New York, is still greater than the supply.

The Constantine Sisters who were formerly with Fritz Schoff, have entered vaudeville in a pretty dancing act and are meeting with well deserved success.

Edward Gallacher, the well known actor-playwright, has left the stage and is now devoting all his time and energy to the production of sketches for the vaudeville stage.

Salome has gone to the dogs. A vaudeville troupe of thirty trained dogs is now making the circuit through the country, presenting a canine drama which is marked "The Elongement of Salome."

Robert Mantell is now playing short engagements in Michigan. Tonight he is at Lansing tomorrow and the day after will play at Jackson and the with he will be at Kalamazoo and on the following day at Ann Arbor.

Walker Whiteside has surprised the critics by his excellent work as young Quixote in local Zangwill's new play, "The Melting Pot." His playing is described as remarkable for its vigor, charm and vividness and his voice is praised for its expressiveness.

H. Southern has a new play called "Richard L'Amour," which was produced for the first time in Louisville recently. Laurence Irving is said to have acted five years waiting the play, which deals with events during the time between 1810 and 1861.

Grace Hazard, who has made a hit in vaudeville in an act she calls "Five Feet of Comic Opera," learned to play on the bagpipes that she uses in her act from Pipe Major Henry Forsythe, piper to the Prince of Wales, while she was visiting in Scotland during the past summer.

Thurston, the magician, will tour America this season before starting on his long deferred visit to South America, Panama and the West Indies. During the three years as a public performer Thurston has met with remarkable success not only by his skill as magician, but also by his rare gift as an entertainer.

Josephine Weston Penbody, who lately completed the manuscript of a new play for Otis Skinner, is the author of "Marlowe," a romantic drama in verse, following pretty closely the eventual career of Kit Marlowe, the lines of the lesser Elizabethans. Miss Penbody lives in Cambridge, Mass., and was formerly Professor of English in Wellesley College.

The next play, which Lieber & Co. are going to bring out in the near future, is "A Matter of Money," which is from the pen of C. M. S. McCallan, author of "Leah Kleeblum." It is a play on the eve, absorbing topic of capital and labor, giving both sides free scope for argument and illustration without, in the least devaluing the dramatic texture of the play.

"Arsene Lupin," the highly dramatic story of a thief whom neither imprisonment, advice nor his own reason could dissuade from his crooked career, but who finally abandons it, out of love for a woman who has herself been a thief, will probably be one of the first new productions made by Charles Frohman on his return from his lengthy visit in Europe.

OPEN EVENINGS FROM NOW UNTIL CHRISTMAS.

6 More Shopping Days Before Christmas

Comes as sort of a shock to you, doesn't it? You did not realize how close it was, and so many things undone. Last moment shopping can be most satisfactorily done here, where store service, added delivery forces and ample collections of carefully selected gift things all tend to satisfying choice and the assurance that there will be no disappointing delays or mistakes. We earnestly advise, when possible, to shop in the morning. We can assure you better service than in the later hours of the day. The volume of Christmas business is tremendous, but we are splendidly prepared in every sense to handle it. We have assembled a wonderful collection of gift things in quantities that will provide the broadest of selections for last moment shoppers.

Initial Handkerchiefs

We imported these Handkerchiefs ourselves, otherwise we would have to ask $1.25 for them, six dainty white handkerchiefs in a very pretty little gift box; very nicely initialed. These will be found on the first floor.

ENTHUSIASM RUNS AT HIGH PITCH AS WONDER AFTER WONDER GREET THE HOLIDAY THRONGS.

Interwoven Half Hose

Modish colors, not a seam in them anywhere, double heel and toe silk finish, a half dozen of such hose in a neat Christmas gift box would indeed be a most generous gift. No better wearing hose was ever made and only silk ones are more slightly. Twenty-five cents a pair.

25c

Ours is not a mediocre collection of drums, tin toys and rattles not that it does not include these things, it does, but it goes much further and presents to this public a showing of the newest most novel and wonderful toys that have ever been shown in this section. Engines that run by steam, work shops moved by electric power, lathes, drills, saw mills, pilating presses and hosts of mechanical toys that cut up the queerest kind of antics, along comes the fire department with its shining engines, hook and ladder trucks, hose carts, etc., drawn by prancing iron horses. A racing car goes whirling down a table with a real road, a railroad train dashes from a tunnel and stops at the station and as one mother expressed it, the children go wild. Just a little list of items:

Drunken Toy Man
Trapdoor Performers
Walking Sailors
Toys That Move
Boats That Sail
Birds That Fly
Fire Engines
Hook and Ladder Trucks
Ice Wagons
Hose Carts

Stables
Patrol Wagons
Houses
Animals
